

Maker Licence

This licence covers the digital files and guides supplied with your purchase. By purchasing, downloading or using them, the individual or business that made the purchase accepts this non-exclusive, non-transferable maker licence.

Clay Bake Studio retains all rights it holds in the files, guides, images, listing content, brand assets, trade marks, product names and marks.

Permitted use

3D print and back up. Print and use the included tools for your own making. Keep reasonable private backup copies that are not shared or made publicly accessible.

Use a 3D printing service. Send the files to a service only so it can print them for you. The service must not reuse, resell, publish, share or redistribute the files.

Modify for your own use. You may resize or convert the files for your own use.

Make, sell and display. Make and sell finished polymer clay pieces using the printed cutters or tools. A finished piece may include a printed part made to be part of it, such as the wall hanger glued to the back of a finished clay piece. Use printed display stands and other display aids to photograph or display jewellery and other products you make or sell.

Restrictions

Digital files. You may not share, publish, upload publicly, redistribute, resell, sublicense or give away the original files or any modified or converted versions; include them in a bundle, course, membership, download or template pack; allow another person or business to use them for their own projects; or use them to create digital tool files for sale or distribution.

Printed tools and display stands. Printed cutters, tools and display stands are for your own use. They cannot be sold, gifted, wholesaled, distributed or otherwise provided to another person or business. A printed part made to be part of a finished piece, such as a wall hanger, may only be passed on attached to that piece, never on its own. For commercial licensing, message Clay Bake Studio through Etsy messages.

Responsibility and safety

Finished pieces. If you gift or sell finished pieces made using the printed cutters or tools, you are responsible for testing, hardware (including any printed hanger and how the piece is fixed to a wall), materials, labelling, marketplace rules, taxes, customer service and legal compliance. Clay Bake Studio does not certify finished pieces as safe, durable, hypoallergenic, waterproof, food-safe, child-safe, suitable for any wall or load, or compliant for a particular market.

3D printing and use. These files are intended for adult maker use. Printed items are not toys and must not be used with food or cookie dough. Follow manufacturer safety labels, keep clay tools separate from food tools, and use the protective equipment and ventilation the manufacturer specifies. 3D printers, slicers, filaments, clay, adhesives, finishes and hardware affect results. Print one tool first. Check its fit and function, then test one finished piece before making or selling a batch.

Support and refunds

File support. If a file is faulty, missing, corrupt, does not match the listing or included file list, or will not import into your 3D printer's slicer, message Clay Bake Studio through Etsy messages. Include the filename and a screenshot.

Change-of-mind refunds are not generally available once a file has been downloaded, where the marketplace's policy and the law allow this.

Consumer rights. Nothing in this licence excludes, restricts or modifies any guarantee, right, remedy or protection that cannot lawfully be excluded, including under the Australian Consumer Law. If a term in this licence conflicts with a right that cannot legally be excluded, that right applies.

Licensors and contact

The seller named on the purchase receipt grants this licence under the Clay Bake Studio name. For support or licence questions, message Clay Bake Studio through Etsy messages, from your Etsy order or the ClayBakeStudioShop page on Etsy. Etsy messages are the only support channel.
